Council Acts on Protests; Decker Ruled Ineligible

The Student Council Tuesday acted on two protests of the Oct. 13 class and Council election and decided to hold a special election Wednesday, Nov. 3.

One protest, filed by the Independent Student Association, called for re-balloting of freshman Council representatives because one of their candidates was named on the wrong list. The Council, with little discussion, decided to hold another election of the entire freshmen candidates for Council.

Petition Lists Three Protests

The other protest, a petition signed by 70 students, included three points: (1) That Mel Decker, elected senior class president, one hour short of being a senior, is ineligible to hold a senior office; (2) That Jim Erixon, senior Council representative and chairman of the Oct. 13 election, does not have senior class standing, so the entire election is void because of this, and (3) Jerry Norene, candidate for senior presidency, lacks senior credit and thus should have been declared ineligible to run for office.

Decker appeared before the Council and pleaded that one hour should not keep him from being senior president.

"I understood I was eligible, the organization that put me up thought I was eligible, the Dean of Students gave me their stamp of approval and the seniors elected me president," he said.

Dean of Students Jay B. MacGregor said his office was at fault in not discovering Decker's ineligibility before the election. The purpose of the petition system is to check candidates' eligibility.

Council Votes Decker Ineligible

The Council decided that Decker was ineligible and voted to have another election for class president.

Norene likewise was declared ineligible.

The protest filed against Erixon was not valid because he has senior credit standing. Erixon said the protest was filed on the basis of an incomplete, which recently was made up.

In the Nov. 3 election seniors will elect a president, juniors will vote for a woman Council representative and those between the candidates who tied for class secretary-treasurer, and freshmen will elect two men and two women Council representatives.

Soft Steps Ruled for Future

Before adjournment, the Council ruled "illegal" loud speakers, sirens or other loud noises in future campaigning.

Petitions for woman junior Council representative must be completed and filed in the Dean of Students office by 5 p. m. Wednesday. There will be no new candidates for the other offices. Assistant Dean Don Pfisterer urges organizations check the eligibility of their candidates.

Registrar Announces Final Student Count

Total registration for this semester is now 1,901 day school students, announced Miss Alice C. Smith, University registrar.

Although Adult Education registration has not yet been totaled, an estimated 2,000 students are attending Omaha U night classes.

This year's registration is twenty percent above last year's.

Clark Names Morris, Palmquist To Head Cast in 'The Heiress'

Marcia Morris will play the title rôle of Catherine Sloper in the Omaha University production of "The Heiress." Dr. Edwin L. Clark, director, announced the cast this week for the Nov. 12-13 event.

The leading male role of Dr. Sloper will be portrayed by Richard Palmquist. Hugh Allen will act opposite Miss Morris in the male romantic lead.

The supporting cast includes Jean Bednar, Thomas Finley, Marlene Hoffman, Pat Kavan, Joyce Olson and Pat Norman.

In announcing the cast for the production, Dr. Clark said rehearsals have already begun.

"The Heiress," first production of the year for the University Players, is a Ruth and Augustus Goetz adaptation of the Henry James novel, "Washington Square."

The drama opened on Broadway in the 1947 season with Basil Rathbone playing the leading male role. After a successful run in New York, it was made into a movie of the same name.

Olivia de Havilland won the Academy Award for her portrayal of Catherine Sloper.

First Senior Talent Show To Introduce 1954 Campus Chest Drive Monday

The first Senior Talent Show will launch the annual Campus Chest drive at 10 a. m., Monday. The show will be presented night club style in the middle of the auditorium with spectator chairs placed in a circle.

Singing during the program will be Pat Kavan, Rudy Rotello and the Theta Chi Choraleers. A Dixieland five with Johnnie Vana will do several numbers and Vana is expected to do a number alone. One or two more acts will be chosen. The acts for the talent show were selected from different organizations. There were no try-outs.

The voting booth for "Ugliest Man" and "Cutest Pan" contestants will be outside the auditorium. Snapshots of candidates will be on the booth. Winners of the contest will be revealed at a dance in the Student Center from 3 to 5 p. m., Thursday.

Votes will be gained through donations. One cent equals one vote. For the first time persons may pledge any amount to be paid over a period of six months. Three hundred fifty votes are the largest number of votes any pledge can bring. Funds from the Chest drive will be divided among the Omaha Community Chest, Omaha Red Cross and the World University

'U. S. Should Strive for Better Public Relations with South America'—Phillips

By Bob Henkel

"If the U. S. government would create as good a public relations program for U. S. relations with South America, as they do for the advertising of soap in this country, we would be more on the way toward winning the cold war in South America."

That observation was made to Gateway and Tomahawk staff members by David Atlee Phillips Wednesday afternoon in the Student Publications office.

Phillips met with the combined staffs just before he addressed the World Affairs Institute on "What We Don't Know About South America—But Should."

As owner and editor of the English language newspaper, South Pacific Mail, in Santiago, Chile, Phillips has been an interested observer of the South American political and economic situation for over seven years.

He described his paper to the students as a "refined tabloid," with "lots of columns and photos." Pleading both the English and American readers in Santiago was "quite a job at first," he admitted. The 40,000 British subjects and 16,000 American citizens in Santiago make up the bulk of his readers.

The South Pacific Mail is the oldest of four English language newspapers in South America.

Another problem not found in the United States is the complete absence of copyright laws in Chile. So, in the case of the other 19 newspapers in Santiago, wholesale lifting of articles and photos from U. S. magazines and newspapers is not uncommon.

Commenting on foreign relations, Phillips said, "By not using psychology in dealing with Chile and other South American countries in investment and assistance, it has hurt this country badly."

"The failure to educate overseas representatives of the United States, such as diplomats, tourists and businessmen, also has been a big failing of the United States," he added.

Australian Singer Barr To Appear Wednesday

Morris Barr will present "From the Land of Down Under—Australia" at a special convocation at 11 a. m. Wednesday in the auditorium. Because of so many scheduled convocations, classes will not be dismissed.

Barr, whom Dean of Students Jay B. MacGregor says "sings as well as he talks," will provide several Australian folk songs.

A well known Australian singer, Barr directs one of the major conservatories there. He was the official representative from Australia to the coronation of Queen Elizabeth of England.

Chief Ouampi, symbol of the University, will make his first appearance at the downtown Homecoming Parade and Pep Rally today. His initial showing will mark a tradition of appearances before all home games. Ouampi and coaches of opposing teams will smoke the peace pipe after the marches in authentic Indian costume and headdress before the band.

Classes will be dismissed at 10:50 for the day's events. A change in the Homecoming Parade route was made this week. The Parade will form at 12:15 p. m. at 16 and Chicago Streets. Promptly at 12:30 p. m. it will proceed on 16 Street to Farnam Street, and west on Farnam to the Court House. Cheerleaders will lead the pep rally on the Court House steps.

Appearing in the parade will be the University band, originators of Chief Ouampi's appearance; Homecoming Princess candidates; football team members and coaches; decorated convertibles and organizations with Homecoming banners.

A bonfire rally at 8 p. m. in the west Fieldhouse parking lot will precede tonight's dance. Fred Walters and Dick Langhammer will appear in Indian costume to spark more spirit when they light the bonfire. Princess candidates will be introduced following team cheers.

Union Group Provides Plan

Plans for orienting OU students to the Student Center were discussed at the Student Center Committee meeting Wednesday.

A sub-committee, consisting of Miss Margaret Killian, Joan Willey and Jim Erixon, was appointed to create more interest in the Student Center. Long-range tentative plans include new furniture and drapes, a listening room and book nooks for the present Student Lounge.

Last year's recommendations for school improvements have not yet been acted upon, but Chairman Glen Lewis was appointed to see President Bail concerning these suggestions.

Texas Company To Print Yearbook

Publication of the Tomahawk will be handled by the Newsfoto Publishing Company of San Angelo, Tex., according to Paul Cherling, yearbook editor. Announcement of the contract was recently made at the Board of Publications meeting.

Two senior students have been added to the staff. They are Sharon Erdkamp, senior editor and Tom Romberg, Greek editor.

Sign Now for Shot

Persons must sign for flu shots today in the Nurses Office on second floor. Shots will be given students and personnel next week. One dollar will be charged to cover cost of vaccine.

Editor To Speak On Coexistence

Norman Cousins, editor of "The Saturday Review of Literature" and vice-president of the United World Federalists, will appear Wednesday at the World Affairs Institute. He will discuss "The Realities of Coexistence" at the 8:15 p. m. meeting in the auditorium.

During the war, Cousins edited the magazine "U. S. A.," which was published by the U. S. government. He is the author of "The Good Inheritance: The Democratic Chance," and has edited several books, among them "A Treasury of Democracy." His 1945 editorial on implications of the Atomic Age, "Modern Man Is Obsolete" was so widely read that it was reprinted in six languages and was later expanded into a book of the same title.

The author-lecturer of public affairs and political science is special consultant on World Affairs for the American Broadcasting Company.

Prior to his editorship of "The Saturday Review," Cousins was managing editor of the magazine, "Current History." He has frequently appeared on radio forums, The Town Meeting of the Air, People's Platform and American Forum of the Air. His survey of displaced persons' camps in the American Zone in Germany was published as "Apology for Living."

In June, 1948, Cousins and Warren Austin, Chief U. S. Delegate to United Nations, received honorary degrees from the American University in Washington, D. C., for outstanding contributions to world peace.

Prominent in education, Cousins served on the 1949 Connecticut State Education Survey Committee, which reviewed all phases of education in that state. In addition to several other positions, Cousins serves as moderator of the Town Meeting of his hometown, Norwalk, Conn.

Panel of Americans Chooses Permanent Faculty Committees

Thirteen faculty members have been selected as a permanent committee for the Panel of Americans. They are to help train students who are interested in the discussion-debate organization.

Faculty members are Miss Margaret Killian, Miss Ellen Lord, Paul Beck, Herbert Berry, Robert Harper, T. C. Johnston and Dean of Students Jay F. MacGregor.

Others are Harry Rice, Alfred Sugerman, George Wilber, Dr. J. D. Tyson, Dr. Ralph Wardle and Roderick Peck, assistant dean of the College of Adult Education.

Co-ordinator of activities is Dean MacGregor. Dr. Harper is chairman of recruiting students.

Persons interested in the Panel may attend a special faculty-student coffee hour at 3 p. m. Tuesday in the Student Center.

The University panel is one of 18 in the country and is in its fourth year on campus. It is composed of students of various religious, racial and national origins who attempt to encourage better group relations through discussion of backgrounds and problems of their groups in American communities.

Cousins . . . next Institute speaker.

Bail Cites OU Advancement In Enrollment

"The University of Omaha is well in the forefront of demands of increasing enrollment," stated University President Milo Bail after returning Monday from the annual meeting of the American Council of Education.

"Preparing to Meet the Rising Tide of Students," was the theme of the Chicago meeting attended by Dr. Bail and Vice President Charles Hoff Oct. 14 to 15.

Bail Credits University Progress

"I am very proud of the forward progress both faculty and students have made toward this problem," Dr. Bail said. "The first problem raised at the conference was the curriculum; whether new subjects were needed or should there be changes in faculty," he continued. "OU has met this by expanding into four colleges and adding new courses and faculty." He said that the faculty increase alone has been 20 percent since 1946.

The type of student anticipated and what is being done about co-curricular activities were the second problems discussed.

OU Ready for 1960 Tidal Wave

The University has met the facilities problem by planning its building program since before World War II to meet the tidal wave of students in 1960. The new Library leads drawing board plans for a Student Union, Fine Arts building, Applied Arts building and Fieldhouse addition.

"One of the best Audio-Visual departments in the nation is another bright spot in University facilities," Dr. Bail added.

Tyson To Appear Before Convention

Dr. J. D. Tyson, speech instructor, will appear before the National Convention of American Speech and Hearing Association Wednesday in St. Louis. He will present the thesis he prepared for his doctor's degree, "The Role of the Parietal Lobes in Speech."

The paper, based on research done last year at the University of Denver, describes powers of muscle movements in speech and their relation to the brain.

Gateway Announces Proffit 'Future Star' For Movie Premier

Omaha University's "future star" is Lois Proffit, announced the Gateway editorial board Thursday. Miss Proffit was selected to represent OU at the Omaha premiere of the Warner Brothers' picture "A Star Is Born," Oct. 28 at the Orpheum Theatre.

She will sit in a special reserved section of the theatre with coeds representing high schools and other universities in the area.

Miss Proffit was chosen by the board on the basis of talent, poise, personality and beauty. She plays the piano, violin, saxophone and bassoon. The 19-year-old coed is a drum majorette and a tap dancer. She was runner-up in the 1954 Miss Omaha contest. She was ISA's Sweetheart last year and placed second in the National ISA Sweetheart contest.

Other finalists nominated for the title of "Future Star" include Jean DuBois, Pat Kavan, Mary Little, Jackie Pedersen, Donna Raagorshak and Ruth Washlinek.

Student Tickets Available For City Festival of Nations

Trygve Lie . . . Festival of Nations speaker.

Today is the last day to buy tickets to the Centennial Festival of Nations to be presented at 8:30 p. m. Sunday at Ak-Sar-Ben Coliseum. Honored guest and speaker will be Trygve Lie, first Secretary-General of the United Nations. Student admission tickets may be purchased for 50 cents in the Dean of Students office. Admission is also by Centennial coupon book.

Politician Since Age 16

Norwegian-born Lie entered politics at the age of 16 as president of a Labour Party's branch in an Oslo suburb. He rose rapidly in the Labour Party, from legal advisor to member of the National Council to minister of justice. As head of the Department of Shipping and Supply shortly before the war, he helped the Norwegians survive the Occupation by his foresight in accumulating and hiding large supplies of food. Lie was Foreign Minister during World War II.

Associated with the United Nations from its earliest days, he lead the UN for seven years.

Receives World Peace Award

Lie recently received the World Veterans Federation first annual Peace Award as the man who "has done most in the past year to promote the cause of international peace and uphold the Charter of the United Nations."

The festival will bring together the largest gathering of nationality groups ever assembled in the midwest. Representing the nations of the world will be 13 groups, over 750 dancers and 250 singers. John Matcha will conduct the festival orchestra. Matcha and Edward Ferrigo handled the scoring of the show. Some of the nationalities in the show have recruited additional orchestras.

SAIE Meeting To Be Oct. 28

"Communications at the Company Level" will be the theme discussed at the seventh annual House Magazine Institute Oct. 28 at the University. The institute is sponsored by the University Department of Journalism and Omaha Chapter of the Society of Associated Industrial Editors.

House magazine displays, registration and a coffee hour will precede morning events. Norman Filbert, general chairman of the Institute, will preside at the morning session. University President Milo Bail and Meade Chamberlin, president of the Omaha Chapter of SAIE, will welcome the assembly.

Morning speakers are Kenneth Butler of Butler and Associates of Medota, Ill., and Edward R. Sammis, editor of "The Lamp" magazine of Standard Oil. William J. Quinlan, past national SAIE president, and John F. Merriam, president of Northern Natural Gas, will speak at the noon luncheon.

Contributions Due For Grain of Sand

Final deadline for contributions to the Grain of Sand is Monday, according to Dr. Ralph Wardle, head of the English department and magazine advisor.

Students may contribute original stories, poems or essays to any member of the English department or the magazine publication board. Student members are Susan Bivin, Sam Bittner, Pat Lemmers and Dona Wells.

Student Woes To End With Proposed Garage

A study of the parking woes of University students is now underway. The little man in blue seen each morning busily directing traffic in the upper lot is actually studying the traffic flow and bottle-necks in preparation for a new parking garage.

The garage, though now only in sketchy drawing board form, will accommodate between 300 and 400 student cars. It is to be located at the south end of the campus near Elmwood Park.

Charles Hoff, vice-president in charge of business management, said the structure should be completed by September, 1956. The approximate cost of $390,000 would eventually be defrayed by charging students for each semester's use.

Meet the Faculty

Liberal Arts Dean Proves Versatile

Take one part athlete, one part coach and two parts psychologist and teacher, slowly add the knowledge of a very wise man, and you have Dr. W. H. Thompson, dean of the Arts and Sciences College.

These ingredients began gathering when the Dean was a student at Omaha U., 1914-17. "Young Will," according to the year-book, was active in athletics, lettering in both football and basketball.

When Thompson was not participating in athletics, or working part-time, he was studying to be a teacher. "I had thought about being a teacher," he said, "but wasn't sure just what I wanted to teach." His mind was made up for him by Dr. Daniel Jenkins, first president of the university. Jenkins told Bill's parents he thought their son should study to be a psychology professor, and he studied in that direction.

Having taken the M. A. degree in 1925 from the University of Nebraska, Thompson earned his Ph. D. in 1930 at Ohio State University while teaching educational psychology. Then an odd set of circumstances brought him back to Nebraska. "I had just finished the 1930 school year and was going back to see my mother," he said. "The only time I ever overslept in my life turned out to be lucky for me. One of my Nebraska U. professors called me long distance and asked me to return to the alma mater as professor of psychology.

A year later the president of Omaha University, William Seacock, asked Thompson to come to Omaha and set up a program of psychology. He served the growing University as professor, then head of the department of philosophy and psychology, and in 1941 became dean of the College of Arts and Sciences.

The most memorable experience in Thompson's life as a professional psychologist occurred in 1938, when he discovered the first idiot savant known to the profession in 500 years.

An idiot savant, he explains, is a feeble-minded person who is a genius in one respect. Usually a Mongolian idiot does not speak at all or has a one or two-word vocabulary. The nine-year-old boy Dr. Thompson talked to, though completely incompetent, could read, speak English and pass a current events test at college level.

Test Tubes Out Unless Required

"Most of the students taking chemistry aren't chemistry majors," said Dr. Nell Ward, head of the chemistry department.

Many of the students are women taking chemistry courses so they can get their requirements in nursing. Both men and women take chemistry courses as part of their science requirement.

"Right now there are approximately twenty-five students who are listed as chemistry majors," Dr. Ward added. "The number of persons majoring in chemistry is decreasing all over the United States," she concluded.

The chemistry field is wide open for opportunity. A need exists in all teaching fields from college and university to high school. The need for chemists in the field of academic research has also increased.

Dr. Ward pointed out that the government alone needs chemists for research and laboratory work in military and civil service offices. "And," she concluded, "thousands of openings exist in the petroleum, heavy chemical, explosives, pharmaceutical and lubricant industries."

No Juice

As part of her job as secretary to the Dean of Student Personnel, Mrs. Beth Roberts reads the names over the paging system at the class breaks.

Last week she read two pages completely full of names before she discovered that the paging system wasn't turned on.

Prove Through Pocketbook

Usually University students can be counted on to support Omaha civic projects. When marchers are needed in parades, students volunteer. When the Missouri river threatened the city in 1952, classes were dismissed and students hastened to the dikes. The University Red Cross chapter provides entertainment for the Veterans hospital, and students are called upon to collect donations for the "Lights on for Cancer" drive each spring. We prove we're responsible citizens—that is, prove it until asked to show it through our pocketbooks.

Monday the annual Campus Chest drive opens. Contributions to the drive are divided among the Omaha Community Chest, World University Service and Red Cross. In past years the drive never has netted more than $500—an average of approximately ten or 12 cents per student—about equal to what most kindergarteners contribute in grade school.

This year, in addition to accepting cash contributions, the Campus Chest committee is issuing $3 pledges, which are good for six months. The committee estimates that at 50 cents per month every student can afford to contribute.

For $3, besides showing that we are responsible citizens, we could make no better investment.

Letter to the Editor

Again the school elections, and again the same old procedures. It is virtually impossible to walk down the corridor without at least fifty persons asking you, "Have you voted yet?" If you are like I am you say "yes" regardless of the fact that you may not have voted yet, just for the purpose of "getting away."

To remedy this situation, I suggest that the Student Council give a pin, ribbon or button of some sort to the person after he has voted. This pin or button could then be worn to distinguish the voters from those who have not yet cast their ballot.

It would then be possible to walk down the hall without being deluged by the tring question, "Have you voted yet?"

Candidates Await Fate In Contest

The four girls pictured below are a little nervous this morning as time draws near for the announcement of the 1954 Homecoming Princess. All four are seniors selected by their organizations to compete for the title because of their interest in University activities.

Art Major

Joan Willey, an art major, is presently gaining some practical experience in art instruction by working part-time in the education department of the Joslyn Memorial. Joan has served two terms on the Student Council, and is present president of Alpha Xi Delta sorority. After graduation Joan plans to take more art courses in order to teach art in an institution.

Education Major

Faith Stitt is an education major and at present most of her time either practice teaching or preparing to practice teaching.

Faith plans to continue teaching in Omaha after she receives her degree in June. She served as president of the Independent Student Association last year.

Speech Major

Pat Norman is a speech major active in all University dramatic productions. If Pat doesn't have a speaking part, you can always find her back stage. Pat's favorite part was that of a witch girl in "Dark of the Moon," produced here last year. She is an active member of Zeta Tau Alpha.

Double Major

Pat Cosford, enrolled in the College of Education, will graduate in June with a double major, physical education and education. She is doing her practice teaching at Benson High, where she instructs a gym class. Pat is serving her third year on the Student Council. She is an active member of Chi Omega sorority.

Congratulations are in order for one of these girls who will be revealed tonight as the 1954 Homecoming Princess. (See details of presentation in column five on this page.)

Past Homecoming Princesses Listed

The following is a list of past Homecoming Princesses.

In 1940, Helen Coulter, was selected; in 1941, Margie Litherbury; in 1942, Mary Heumann; in 1943, Jean Pratt, and in 1944, Virginia Powell.

In 1945 Wilma Kruse was chosen followed by Mary Paulson in 1946; Pat Roessig, 1947; Roberta Muir, 1948; Eileen Wolfe, 1949, and Jean Duncan Pettit, 1950.

Bringing the list up to date are Jackie Zerbe, 1951; Charlotte Longville Alberti, 1952 and Jane Englehart, 1953.

Alumni Celebrate

The annual alumni Homecoming victory dance will be held tomorrow night from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. at the Fontenelle Hotel. Ray Backman and his Orchestra will furnish music. Admission is $1.50 per person.

The football team is also invited to the alumni Homecoming dance.

Groups Organize Special Project For Homecoming

Breaking a long-time tradition of individually decorated rooms or booths, campus organizations will decorate various parts of the University Stadium and Peony Park Ballroom this year.

Decorated Arch

At the beginning of OU's Homecoming game, the Indians will rush on to the field through a decorated archway, built by the Independent Students Association. The organization has selected a red and black color scheme. Construction materials are two-by-four boards shaping the archway.

Chi Omega will provide all the Indian costumes for game-time ceremonies and the dance intermission procession. Several horsemen in the half-time program will wear Indian outfits as will the litter-bearers who carry the Princess during the intermission ceremony, tonight.

Peony, Huge Wigwam

"We're decorating the Peony ballroom entrance so that it looks like a huge tee-pee," said a Sigma Kappa representative. The tee-pee will be made of canvass and will give people the feeling of entering a king sized wigwam. On the structure will be traditional Indian symbols.

Pi Kappa Alpha will decorate the end-zones as well as the boxes for dignitaries attending the game.

Theta Chi will furnish four boys to act as Indians and ride horses at half-time ceremonies.

Alums Welcomed

Two tee-pees, one on either side of the Peony Park stage, will be designed by Alpha Xi Delta. A streamer topping the stage will welcome the Alumni to the dance. Another banner along the north bank of the football field will welcome the grads to the game.

Three-foot three-D figures of Indian princesses will be attached to the 14 mirrors decorating the ballroom. The Zeta-constructed Indians are made of cardboard. The paper costume is sprinkled with glitter at the waist and headband. Faces are made of a foam-plastic with draw-in features.

Ballots Flood Office Of Alumni Secretary

"Ballots are pouring into our office in astounding numbers each day."

Behind this statement sat Tom Townsend, alumni secretary. He and his secretary, Mrs. Mark (June) Gautier, have been furiously counting ballots each day in preparation to announce the officers and directors of the Alumni Association at the alumni dance Saturday night.

Mail Call

The mail was brought in in the presence of a "Gateway" reporter Tuesday morning and the ballots were split up between Tom and June. Each one took an envelope and opened it.

Although all the ballots are not in yet, 28 states, Puerto Rico, Canada, Newfoundland, Japan, Korea "and two ships at sea" have reported in. "In all, counting the two we received this morning, almost 400 ballots have been returned," Tom said.

Postal Ballots

This year the alumni board decided to send ballots in the mail instead of having an association meeting in September as has been done in the past. Provisions were made to allow more than one alum to vote on a ballot. "This was primarily geared to the married alums," Tom said, "but many servicemen also took advantage of it." He said that by sending out the ballots it was hoped more of the alumni would participate in the election.

"We had less than 25 last year," Tom recalled. "This year," he continued, "we even had two ballots from the class of 1913. This was the first class to go the full four years at Omaha U and had eleven members."

Homecoming Win Record Faces St. Ambrose Bees

An eight year winning streak will be at stake tomorrow afternoon when the Omaha U gridsters line up against the Bees of Saint Ambrose College.

The University of Omaha has won their Homecoming games for the last seven years. The victory string started in 1947 when OU had its first post-war football team. That year an inexperienced Indian squad won their first Homecoming contest in five years by dropping Sioux Falls College, 39-0. It was strictly no-contest, as coach Lloyd Cardwell used 32 players to keep down the score.

On a muddy field at Benson High in 1948, an underdog Indian eleven upset Doane College 13-6. Trailing 0-6 in the third quarter, Omaha U came back when Joe Arenas scored seven points and set up another touchdown to ice the game.

Four thousand fans saw an Omaha club swamp the Colorado Ore-Diggers 47-7 in the 1949 Homecoming event. It was the first Homecoming staged in the new University Stadium, and was the highest score made by an Indian squad in any game since the war.

A capacity crowd sat breathless in the warm sunshine for the 1950 Homecoming game and saw heavily favored Wayne University of Detroit fall to an OU ball club that could do no wrong. Little All-America candidate Joe Arenas led his mates in the 32-13 romp.

In 1951, a favored Kansas State Teachers squad from Emporia, Kans., succumbed 16-7 to the magic touch of the Indians. Trailing 0-7 in the second quarter, OU used its then new T-Formation to blast back and score two touchdowns and a safety.

A fumble began Doane College's downfall in the 1952 Homecoming game. The Indians took a 27-0 win in a contest that was rated a toss-up in pre-game guessing.

Last year, team captain Don Maseman and Back Bill Engelhardt led the Red and Black to a 47-14 triumph over the Northern Illinois Huskies. This was the first time Omaha had beaten Northern Illinois.

Princess To Don Traditional Robe

Another chapter in the growing book of OU tradition will be written tonight when the 1954 Homecoming Princess is revealed at the annual Homecoming dance.

Continuing a tradition dating back to 1935, this year's Princess will appear before her tribe dressed in the true regalia of an Indian Princess.

Minutes before the dance intermission, the winning candidate will be handed a beaded white doeskin robe which she will wear to her presentation. This will be the first notice the Princess receives that she was the winner of the election held last week.

Indian braves will carry the new Princess into the ballroom on a litter. At the same time, other braves will escort blanket-clad attendants. When the procession reaches the stage, the Princess will be crowned with an authentic tribal headband.

The original white buckskin dress came from the Omaha Indian tribe in Macy, Nebraska. In 1935, a group of OU students went to the reservation at Macy to observe customs and, if possible, bring back authentic Indian relics. The Buckskin was the most notable result of this excursion.

When the original dress disappeared five years ago, the present doeskin was purchased by the 1950-51 Student Council. This 79-year-old Sioux costume is intricately decorated with thousands of beads which relate an Indian legend.

OU Seeks Win Over St. Ambrose

By Ed Rath

A double attraction will be presented at tomorrow's Omaha University Homecoming game with St. Ambrose of Davenport, Iowa.

Coach Lloyd Cardwell has a clean slate as far as Homecoming competition is concerned. Cardy has a grand total of seven consecutive Homecoming victories.

On the other hand, St. Ambrose has met the Indians twice, defeating them badly in both encounters. So the Indians will be playing to achieve two goals, win number eight Homecoming victory for Cardy and hand the Iowans their first Omaha defeat.

Ernie Gorr, who scouted the "BEES" in their last week's 28-14 win over St. Norberts, reports that the Iowans have a fast, hard running ground offensive.

The Bees will be running their offensive machine from a "V" formation. The V formation offers a combination of the "T" and single wing formations.

Handling the V formation chores for the Iowans will be quarterback Jack Abbott. Abbott is reported as being a dangerous passer.

Powerful Fullback

Fullback Mitch Wade will be the ball carrier who the Indians will have to treat with respect. He has been the leading ground gainer for the Bees the past two years.

Gorr reported the Bees had an effective defense against the T formation, but their pass defense showed some weakness.

OU escaped the Emporia game without any serious injuries. X-rays of Ed Baker's hand revealed that there are no broken bones, but it is badly bruised. Ken Conrad and Dick Cotton are nursing bruises but will be ready for tomorrow's encounter.

Spirit High

Coach Cardwell stated that the team spirit is very high, but does not show a sign of over confidence. In commenting about the St. Ambrose tilt, Cardy explained, "We hope to get a hold of them if we can." "We have been playing these games one at a time and St. Ambrose is next."

Cardy stated that he will stick with the same starting line up for tomorrow's game. This means at game time tomorrow Rudy Rotella and Dick Cotton will be teaming at the ends, Ed Baker and Marv Nevins will be holding down the tackle spots, Frank Hahn and Simon will combine at the guards, with Harry Johnson at the pivot position.

Barring there are no injuries by game time, Bill Steck, Arnie Smith, Bill Engelhardt, and Bob Wheeler will make up the backfield foursome.

Following last week's game the Indians have rolled up a total offensive record of 1,808 yards. The Indians defense has allowed a total of 1,022 yards gained against them.

Engelhardt Leads

Bill Engelhardt is the leading ground gainer for the Indians with an offensive total of 533 yards. Engelhardt has gained 236 yards rushing and 595 yards through the air. He is credited with 47 points.

Emil Radik has collected 294 yards rushing and 239 yards passing for an offensive total of 533 yards. He is credited with 35 points.

Tannahill To Play Fourth Homecoming

Jerry Tannahill, scrappy scaback on the Indian eleven, will be appearing in his fourth Homecoming game tomorrow when the University of Omaha buck heads with the St. Ambrose Bees.

Tannahill is one of the few athletes ever to get the distinction of playing in four Homecomings and earn four letters on the gridiron.

Jerry will also earn his fourth letter in track this coming season. For the past three years he has been one of the big stars on both the football and track teams.

Tannahill, who stands only 5'6" is not hampered by his size. His speed and coordination make up for his height on pass defense, and his tremendous amount of courage make up for his lack of weight when he carries the ball. His quick starts make him a constant scoring threat.

He is exceptionally good at receiving passes because of the way he eludes the defensive backs, and he is probably one of the best broken field runners on the present squad.

Jerry has also been very active in other activities outside of sports. He was sophomore class president and is president of the student council.

'Mural News 'Mural Teams In Deadlock

Pawnees and Sigma Phi Epsilon were deadlocked for first place Tuesday as the Intramural Flag Football League headed into its final week of competition.

Both squads owned 3-0 records. Sig Eps squeezed by two opponents to retain the top spot while Pawnees escaped with forfeits in two contests.

Sig Eps nipped a stubborn ROTC crew 21-13 and squeezed by Pi Kappa Alpha 1-0 through the penetration rule. This rule maintains that the winner in a tie game be decided on by the team having a majority of yardage.

In other games played last week, Pi Kappa Alpha crushed ISA 33-0 and Pawnees defeated Pi Kappa Alpha by forfeit. ROTC skidded to its second straight loss by one touchdown, 25-13 to Theta Chi, while ISA blanked Lambda Chi, 13-0.

Monday afternoon games included a Theta Chi victory over Pi Kappa Alpha by penetration, and a Pawnee forfeit over ROTC.

Intramural Supervisor Ralph Pettit announced that the winning team in the football league will play an all-star squad composed of griders from the other elevens. The contest will be played Oct. 29. Intramural captains will choose the all-star competition.

Pettit also announced that two new sports will enter the intramural scene in the near future. A single-elimination push ball tournament will be held following football season. Bowling is tentatively scheduled to begin Oct. 28.

Papoose Nip Peru Teachers 'B' Squad

A two-touchdown assault in the first quarter netted the Omaha Papoose team a 13-6 win over Peru Teachers "B" team Monday afternoon.

Bob Trambauer chucked a ten-yard scoring pass to John Welch for the first Papoose touchdown. Number two came when Dave Koile darted around end for a 16-yard sprint.

Ernie Gorr's boys held their opponents scoreless until the last stanza. Bob Slaughter ramblled 18 yards to save Peru from a shutout.

A stubborn Papoose line, sparked by Frank Mancuso, bogged down Peru's ground and air attack.

A defensive back with the pro San Francisco 49'ers, Arenas was en route from Chicago where his team had beaten the Bears Sunday. His club will meet the Detroit Lions in a decisive National Football League game next Sunday.

Indians Impressive In 38-6 Victory

OU Gridmen Mostly Home Town Talent

Omaha University's varsity players are practically all "home grown" boys. Of the 44 candidates on the first team, only nine are from outside the city.

These men represent Ralston, Louisville, Valley, Stuart and Grand Island in Nebraska, and Walnut, Griswold, Creston and Council Bluffs on the Iowa side.

16 Former Vikes

North High School is the most popular alma mater with 16 Viking gridmen now playing for the Indians. These include many of the top line and backfield men such as Ed Baker, Bill Engelhardt, Team Captain Rudy Rotella, Dick and Jerry Tannahill, Bill Steck and Pete Rigatuso.

Tech is second in representation with eight men on the squad. End Dick Cotton and back Arnie Smith are two of the former Maroons. Five Benson Bunnies such as hefty linemen Elwood Mink and Clarence Sage provide a strong forward wall along with five Central alumni including Frank Mancuso, Frank Hahn and Tom Harper.

South High boasts freshman end Tom Kasun and offensive back Emil Radik. Kasun is a rugged former Omaha Golden Gloves Champion and is picking up grid experience fast. Radik held the intercity football scoring record while with the South squad, and lettered with the Indians last season.

Lone Prepster

John Welch stands alone for Creighton Prep support. He was a three-sport letter winner in high school and one of the most experienced ends on the varsity squad.

In many cases OU has united

Omaha University stayed in the ranks of the nation's undefeated grid teams Saturday night by downing Kansas State Teachers, 38-6.

The win at Emporia was the Indian's fifth straight victory for the season.

Touchdown honors were evenly divided between six Black and Red players.

Omaha's last tally in the fourth quarter, was the game's most outstanding score. On a fourth down with 11 yards to go, Emil Radik moved into punt formation. He then darted 57 yards for a touchdown.

Cotton Scores

Two-Bill Engelhardt touchdown passes started the Indian offensive rolling in the first quarter. His first scoring pass traveled 44 yards to Bill Steck. A ten-yard Engelhardt heave to Dick Cotton gave Omaha its other first quarter touchdown.

A forty-yard Radik to Arnie Smith pass was the lone Indian tally of the second stanza.

The Indians started the last half with 26-yard scoring run by Engelhardt.

Radik To Camino

In the fourth quarter Radik connected 25 yards to John Camino for the fifth Omaha touchdown. A third quarter run by Dan Horiuchi saved the Kansans from a shut out.

The air-minded Indians gained 252 yards passing compared with only 52 for the Hornets. Kansas State Teachers scored 11 first downs compared with 10 for Omaha.

talent from the Omaha area which were once on opposing teams.

One Indian who thinks his town is bigger and better than six Omahas is center veteran Harry Johnson of Valley. Harry is known as Valley's one man Chamber of Commerce.

Greeks Dust Off School Spirit To Back '54 Homecoming

This weekend, Greek parties and other events will take a backseat to the all-school Homecoming activities. Parties, however, captured the spotlight last weekend with a four-way party and a sorority-fraternity event heading the list of activities.

The four-way party . . . Alpha Xi, Chi Omega, Sigma Phi Epsilon and Theta Chi . . . was held at the German-American Club Saturday night. Following a round of the Hokey-Pokey, there was social dancing. Chili and cokes were served to all attending.

Sponsors included Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. McGranahan and Mr. and Mrs. John G. McMillan.

Saturday night also found Pi Kappa Alpha and Zeta Tau Alpha members at a party at Camp Brewster's Inspiration Lodge. Pat Sullivan and Warren Hanson made all arrangements for the event.

Sigma Phi Epsilon

A family potluck dinner was held Friday night at Riverview Park pavilion for all fraternity members, their families and dates. Following the meal, the Sig Ep quartet sang. The Sigma Phi Epsilon sweetheart song was sung to Mrs. Edith Peterson who was in charge of food during rush week activities. She was presented a gift by president Bill Beindorf.

Eight pledges were initiated Saturday. The new members are Demeral Andrew, Gene Doeschot, Dick Henkins, Ken Korinek, Chuck Radda, Tony Tasich, Roger Taylor, and Bob Wheeler.

Zeta Tau Alpha

Two members were initiated into ZTA following the Founder's Day Ceremony last weekend. They are Medora Elliott and Jeanette Agner. The initiation ceremony was at the home of Mrs. Robert Alexander, sorority sponsor.

Theta Chi

The Theta Chi pledge banquet was held at Caniglia's Pizzeria Sunday evening. Steak, french fries and spaghetti were served. Sam Morasco was master of ceremonies, and Ron Howell was chairman.

Patio Cooking Comes To OU Home Ec Class

The meal planning class, under the direction of Miss Margaret Killian, head of the Home Economics department, has initiated a "first" on the OU campus—patio cooking.

Patio cooking is the newest thing in gracious, informal serving and should not be confused with barbecues and steak fries which are prepared entirely out-of-doors.

In patio cooking the food is prepared indoors with all the conveniences of a modern kitchen. Then the food is carried out and baked or roasted over an open fire. It is then served in the most attractive and gracious manner possible.

The Home Ec students prepared their food in OU's modern kitchens and cooked and ate the meal in Elmwood Park.

Politician Addresses Republican Students

"Party Organization and the Campaign" was the topic of Charles Nye, chairman of the Douglas County Republican Central Committee, who spoke at the first meeting of the Young Republicans Tuesday.

Nye discussed how a political party works in Nebraska and the present Republican campaign. He told how workers were needed, both at party headquarters and on the ward level to present a candidate effectively.

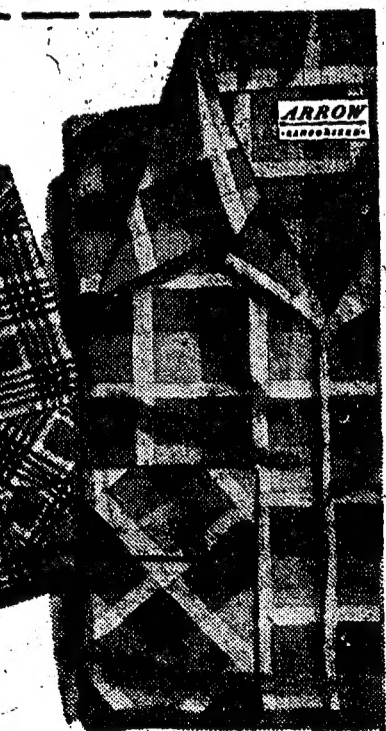

Nye feels that "young blood" is needed in the Republican party, saying, "College students can put the thing over. There is something far more stimulating in a younger person boosting his party, than an older person who is expected to be set in his convictions."

Anyone interested in joining the club or in working on the Republican campaign should contact Dr. William T. Utley, club sponsor.
